SPEAKER/PRESENTER

JORGE DE MOYA is the Marketing and Communications Director for The de Moya Foundation where he works to create employment opportunities for young adults with unique abilities. He aims to produce inspiring, motivational content for the developmental disabilities' community locally and nationally. His background in the film/TV and entertainment industry provided him with the skills to understand how to target a wide array of audiences in the community through digital mediums.

Jorge produces and manages marketing content, develops unique partnerships with a variety of companies, and finds unique ways to create local and national awareness behind the employment of young adults with developmental disabilities. He is an active podcaster and digital media consultant, is on the board for the foundation and a board member for APSE of Florida. His goal is to empower young adults with unique abilities the way his younger brother, the inspiration behind The de Moya Foundation, has motivated him and his family.
